Information

A Number of Weeks

To calculate the number of weeks corresponding to each situation, count the number of days between the start and end dates you indicated for a given period and divide this number by 7. If the result contains a decimal point, round it up to the nearest number. For example, if you worked from June 1 to August 31, you would count 92 days between these two dates. This number divided by 7 equals 13.1. You would then enter 14 under "Number of Weeks."

B Self-supporting Status

You may have been in different situations during this 24-month period (104 weeks, consecutive or not). For example, you may have had a paid job with a company for ten months, have received employment insurance benefits for two months, have received employment assistance benefits for four months while not living with your parents, have held another paid job with a company for six months, or have received income replacement benefits (CNESTT) for two months, without ever studying full-time.

Please note that you cannot count interruptions of 6 months or less for continuing education or 4 months or less for regular education between two full-time study sessions in the 24-month total.

C Income Replacement Benefits

Income replacement benefits are amounts paid by the following organizations:

- Retraite Québec
- the Société de l'assurance automobile du Québec (SAAQ)
- the Commission des normes, de l'équité, de la santé et de la sécurité du travail (CNESTT) (occupational injury, occupational illness, crime victim)
- Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC)
- the Canada Pension Plan (CPP)
- the Ministère de l'Immigration, de la Francisation et de l'Intégration (MIFI)

D Official Attestations

You must attach an official attestation for each situation. Examples of official attestations include:

- records of employment or letters from your employers
- attestations issued by Human Resources Development Canada
- attestations issued by the organizations concerned regarding income replacement benefits
- attestations issued by the Ministère de l'Emploi et de la Solidarité sociale, along with proof that you were not living with your parents or sponsor (a lease, municipal tax bill or a letter from your landlord)
- Proof of acceptance of the Canada Emergency Response Benefit (CERB)
- Proof of acceptance of the Canada Recovery Benefit (CRB), the Canada Recovery Caregiving Benefit (CRCB) or the Canada Recovery Sickness Benefit (CRSB)
- Proof of acceptance of the Canada Worker Lockdown Benefit (CWLB)

Each supporting document must state the start and end dates of the period concerned. If the dates indicated on the form differ from those appearing on the attestations, Aide financière aux études will use the dates indicated on the attestations.

Attention: You must also submit a copy of your most recent statement of marks or transcripts (secondary school, college or university, as applicable).
